Taluqdaris. The district or estate ruled by a Taluqdar was known as talukdari or taluqdari. According to the Punjab settlement report of 1862, great land holders were appointed Taluqdar over a number of villages during the Mughal era. That Taluq or district usually comprised over 84 villages and a central town.

Taluqdar - Wikipedia

Taluqdar is a term used in the Indian subcontinent to refer to a landholder or landlord. The term is derived from the Persian word 'taluk' (district) and 'dar' (holder). In the Mughal Empire, Taluqdar was a title given to landholders who were responsible for collecting revenue from the land they owned. In British India, the term was used to refer to landholders who were granted the right to collect revenue from the land they owned in exchange for providing military or administrative services to the British government.
