I have been trying to locate a pa-8001 or pa-4001 at all too. I have the second generation black Pa1002 and using a pa1004 on the highs. the 1002 on the bridged on the sub overheats eventually so im trying to find a mono amp. i think they sound great and never heard the original japan made ones but i bet they sound even better.

I am surprised there isn't more mention of Nakamichi amps. I have been using two of the PA-1002s for the past year in my car. One running a 2ohm paralel load for the highs, and the other for the subs. They have played rock solid ever since they were installed. They provide the kind of clean, high end sound you would expect from a Nakamichi car ...
